MARKET COMMENTARY

The Australian equity market made modest progress in October, with the S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index returning 1.1% in a choppy month shaped by AGM trading updates, guidance revisions and quarterly production reports from miners against a backdrop of falling metals prices. Takeover activity was also a feature, including proposals for Cleanaway and Challenger, while the scrapping of Firmus's planned IPO weighed on data centre and AI infrastructure-linked names. Utilities (+9.3%) led sector gains, followed by Financials (+6.9%), as the major banks rebounded despite housing market weakness, supported by rotation out of Resources. Health Care (+5.6%) and Consumer Discretionary (+3.6%) also outperformed. Materials (–8.1%) was the clear laggard, entering bear market territory more than 20% below the August peak. Lithium stocks were among the weakest, with Vulcan Energy, Liontown, Pilbara Minerals, Elevra and IGO each falling more than 20%.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The portfolio's largest overweight positions include Deterra Royalties, GWA Group and GPT Group. Conversely, the portfolio's largest relative underweight positions include BHP and Wesfarmers, both of which were not held, and CBA.

ResMed (RMD) rose 11% in the month of October. The company delivered a robust 1Q27 update during the month, beating revenue consensus by ~2%. The steeper sequential decline in Americas CPAP (Continuous Positive Airway Pressure) sleep apnea sales ex Astral flagged last quarter was less pronounced than expected, with overall Americas CPAP sales +8% YoY during the quarter. The stock was also buoyed by the wider market's rotation away from Materials (-8.1%) into defensives, including Health Care (+5.6%). RMD's management continues to flag the relationship between GLP-1 demand and CPAP therapy, finding that patients with scripts for both are 11% more likely to start CPAP than those with a CPAP script alone. Gross margins also beat consensus by +50bps YoY, with inflationary pressures expected to be kept in check via pricing increases and efficiency measures. Additionally, following the sale of Matrix Care, RMD have identified stranded costs that can be removed as the year progresses. Guidance was reiterated at +5-7% revenue growth for the rest of the year, which we see as conservative given the strong reported performance for 1Q27.

McMillan Shakespeare (MMS) returned 9.9% in October and was a top contributor to relative performance over the past six months. The company delivered a very strong 1QFY27 update during the month. The highlight for us was a 14% increase in novated lease sales compared with the prior corresponding period. We see two structural tailwinds supporting this momentum. First, the current FBT exemption for EVs will remain largely unchanged for the next three years, giving the industry regulatory clarity. Second, the spike in oil prices following the Middle East conflict appears to have triggered a step-change in EV purchases. This matters for MMS because EVs have historically been novated at a rate of around 50%, compared with just 5–10% for ICE vehicles. As EVs take a larger share of new car sales, novated lease providers are positioned to benefit disproportionately. Valuation also remains undemanding. MMS trades at ~12x NTM PE and its discount to peer Smartgroup (SIQ) has widened to around 30%, compared with a medium-term average discount of around 20%.

Navigator Global Investments (NGI) modestly detracted after declining 14.3% in October. This followed gains of more than 10% in the final two trading sessions of September, after the company announced the sale of its interest in Invictus Capital Partners. NGI will receive net upfront proceeds of US$40–43m, plus a potential earn-out of up to ~US$32m in CY30. It will also retain its carried interest and fund interests in Invictus. Management expects the deal will not significantly reduce Invictus distributions in FY27 and that material profit distributions will continue until 2031. NGI also provided a solid 1Q27 AUM update during the month. Group ownership-adjusted AUM rose 9% over the quarter to US$36.6bn, driven by the Stable acquisition. Excluding Stable, the organic AUM growth was 3% for the quarter. We like NGI as the only ASX-listed company offering pure exposure to alternatives, an asset class that is generating attractive alpha and attracting flows. The stock also trades on an attractive P/E multiple. Furthermore, the sale proceeds add to NGI's balance sheet capacity to fund M&A that grows its fee-generating base, providing a pathway to significant earnings uplift in the years ahead.

An underweight to CBA detracted, with the stock returning 10.4% as the market rotated out of resources (XJR -6.85%) and into financials (XXJ +6.91%). This followed declines of -8.4% in August and -5.6% in September, when this underweight contributed. We continue to believe CBA is significantly overvalued. Through 2026, the stock has traded 1–2 standard deviations above its 10-year average P/E, both on an absolute basis and relative to the market. This premium has persisted even as indicators for CBA have mostly deteriorated since the federal budget in early May: credit growth has slowed, house prices are falling and unemployment has risen to its highest level since Covid, according to the latest ABS labour force survey. Pressures were already showing in CBA's FY26 result, where the 2H26 bad debt charge of $469m was 47% higher than in 1H26 and we see further challenges ahead. The portfolio therefore remains most underweight in CBA and Westpac as the banks most exposed to housing.

OUTLOOK

Investors continue to weigh several local and global pressure points. The RBA lifted the cash rate 25bps to 4.85% on 3 November – its fifth hike this year and an 18-year high – but Governor Bullock removed the explicit tightening bias, signalling a wait-and-see pause that many economists read as the peak. Even so, trimmed mean inflation is now forecast to hold at 3.6% through December 2026, with growth of just 1.6% and unemployment forecast to reach 5.1%, and the AUD has weakened as markets weigh the risk of a policy error. Against this backdrop, data points and company updates continue to point to a deteriorating Australian consumer. Outside of a resolution in the Middle East or a significant slowdown in the AI build-out, it is hard to envisage significant relief in rates and am improvement in domestic economic conditions. Further, the emerging volatility in globally markets relating to AI funding concerns will likely remain a key driver of local markets.
